

Biological small angle X-ray scattering beamline (BioSAXS)

Late July saw the arrival on site of the BioSAXS Insertion Device from Germany. It was long anticipated and received with great excitement. The Superconducting Undulator is the key piece of equipment to be installed before first BioSAXS light later this year.

