

Nanoprobe Beam line - NANO

Construction of the Nanoprobe Satellite Building started in Feb this year. In 4 short months we have seen enormous progress: the site cut is complete and underground services in place.

June 29th saw the pouring of the 900-mm thick endstation slab, designed to resist environmental vibrations and enable NANO to reach a 60 nm resolution.